RELEASE KEAWE; TERM EXPIRES

George Keawe, national guardsman, who was placed in the territorial prison last Tuesday after having been found guilty by a summary court of absence without excuse from guard drills, was released this morning at 7:30 o'clock, having served his term.

National guard officers interviewed today by the Star-Bulletin are of the opinion that Keawe's punishment will be not only a lesson to him but to other members of the guard who have slighted their work in the guard and kept down the attendance record of their company by their own individual absences.

"Privates of my company have told me that they are glad such a step has been taken," said one officer today. "They believe that it is only right that the men who hold back the regular attendance should be made to suffer."

This officer is in command of one of the 1st Infantry companies whose men will not receive pay owing to the fact that they did not keep the attendance up to the required 60 per cent during the last half year.

Where is Our "Stockyard"

Where is Honolulu's stock-yard? Traffic Policeman Henry J. Andrews would like to know.

Andrews says he and his brother officers are hailed with many curious questions by visitors, but the latter is the latest and most unique.

This stockyard is a lively stable, if you please.

A recent arrival, apparently an American, stepped up to the traffic man Tuesday and inquired the location of said "stockyard."

Now, Andrews usually scratches his head—or mops it—when one asks him anything, but this bracer made him run his fingers through his curly locks three times.

"Stockyard?" he exclaimed, and turned a truck up King instead of down Bishop, where it really wanted to go, in his embarrassment. "Really, you've got me there, stranger. You see, we are not particularly strong on stock in this country."

A disappointed look spread over the inquirer's features. "And we did so want to take a little horse-back ride," he cried. "This is too bad."

Andrews says you can always learn something more if you try.

ATTORNEY TAKES UP PIER REPORT

Officials in the attorney general's department today at the request of the harbor commissioners took up for consideration the report of the three special engineers filed yesterday concerning the stability of Piers 8 and 9 and the plans for Pier 10.

It is understood that the report will be digested first by the board as a committee of the whole, working together with the attorney general's office. Later it will be submitted to discussion in regular meeting.

Later in the meeting yesterday afternoon Ed Lord, head of the contracting firm, asked to be allowed at the first discussion of the report along with his attorney, but was told that this would not be allowed in the meeting of the committee of the whole. At the regular meeting he can bring an attorney if he so desires.

HAS SOMEONE A PAIR OF GOOD NO. 8'S THAT ARE NOT BEING WORN?

One pair of No. 8 shoes are wanted at the city jail. Let them be black or white, green, bronze or tan; there is no color distinction.

If anyone in Honolulu has just one pair in reasonable repair that he can limp along without through his remaining days a great favor will be conferred upon a fellow man by dropping the same at the city jail.

Just hand them to the desk sergeant with orders to give them to the prisoner who needs some new soles—not souls—and he will understand.

The man who speaks for the gratis footing is a trusty of repute. He says he has not had a good pair of shoes for a year. He needs a pair; there is no doubt of that—he admits it himself.

So do not forget No. 8's they are, not too much run in at the heel nor out at the uppers; just a good, decent, every-day, ordinary, respectable pair of average "kikas."

HOW IS "HONOLULU" PRONOUNCED? THREE SEATTLE GIRLS ASK

What is the correct pronunciation of "Honolulu"? Three Seattle high school girls want to know and have written to Supt. Henry W. Kinney of the department of public instruction to find out. Is it pronounced "Honolulu" or "Honoloo-loo"?

The girls' letter is as follows: "In our class at school we are studying about the Hawaiian Islands and had a discussion whether your largest city and capital was pronounced Honoluh or Honoloo-loo as it is in our geography. Which is it? Would you please give me the markings of the word."

"How long have the islands been called Hawaiian Islands? In our book it says Sandwich Islands. How did they happen to change it to Hawaiian Islands and when?"

Kinney says he thinks he knows enough good Hawaiian to be able to answer the query about pronunciation. He will also give the girls the other information.

CIVIL SERVICE MEN TO JOIN LABOR FEDERATION

With a strength of 54 members, local civil service employees who are a branch of the Civil Service Retirement Association, have voted almost unanimously to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor.

In an election the following officers of the local branch were chosen: A. B. Ingalls, customs gauger, president; Roger J. Taylor, deputy collector of customs, vice-president; Lewis B. Reeves, customs inspector, secretary; and Joseph Ordenstein, clerk, treasurer of the local branch.

The object of affiliating with the labor federation is to secure higher pay and to work for retirement and pensions for aged or disabled employees. Most of the members of the local branch are in the customs service here.

ELKS PLAN TO HAVE BIG BIRTHDAY BANQUET

Honolulu Lodge of Elks is preparing for its annual birthday celebration. It is still 10 weeks away, but the start was made in the naming of the officers of the lodge to form a committee in charge.

April 14 will mark the sixteenth anniversary of the installation of Honolulu Lodge No. 616. Plans thus far are for a banquet to be held at the Moana Hotel and in honor of the past exalted rulers of the lodge.

Dr. Charles Hillman Brough, former instructor of economics at the state university and a former pupil of Woodrow Wilson, was inaugurated governor of Arkansas.
